

Our highly individualized treatment experiences mean that each student and family receives a unique set of services and length of stay. Students are typically enrolled on average 10-12 weeks. We do our best to simplify this by offering a largely inclusive daily rate and enrollment fee, but nearly all families have some additional billable services during their stay. Below is a typical payment structure and estimates. Your bill will be different based on your family's individual needs.

Insurance:

While Pacific Quest is not in network with any insurance providers, many families are able to recover some (sometimes a significant) portion of their stay through insurance reimbursement. Our insurance billing partner Bridgeway Billing will work closely with our team and your insurance plan to submit pre-authorization, and pursue coverage.

A couple of important details to remember:

- You'll need to make payment in advance, and be reimbursed for covered days at the end of your stay.
- It is extremely unlikely that even when treatment is authorized, will your plan cover an entire stay. Most insurance will discontinue coverage around 30-45 days.
- Reimbursement is not a 1:1 for dollars but for days covered. We bill families at a discounted cash pay rate and pursue higher negotiated rates with insurance providers to help offset costs.
- Because insurance will only authorize just a few days at a time, it's impossible to know in advance how much they will cover before a student enrolls.

Common Additional Services :

Below is a menu of services. Our integrative approach means we pull from a wide range of supplements, labs, therapeutic and assessment tools. As such, this list is not exhaustive, but these are some examples of the most common services. Rest assured you won't be arbitrarily billed for these services at our discretion. These important tools are part of an ongoing dialogue between you and your family's treatment team. Psychological testing, psychiatry, medications, supplements and labs are all discussed in advance before billing. In some cases, these services may be bundled into insurance coverage and will not result in any out of pocket costs.
